

Susan B. Major

Founder and CEO, Major Executive Search

Susan Major is the Founder and CEO of Major Executive Search, bringing a unique and invaluable blend of experience working in both search and in the technology industry itself. She specializes in the wireless, enterprise software and semiconductor sectors, serving Fortune 500 companies to start-ups.

Ms. Major's experience includes 20+ years of search experience, including C-level executive placements for public and emerging, pre-IPO corporations. Prior to establishing Major Executive Search, she co-founded Davenport Major Executive Search. She also opened San Diego's first top ten search office for A.T. Kearney Executive Search, where she was part of the Technology practice.

Ms. Major's expertise working in the technology industry and global high growth companies spans more than 15 years. As an executive at Motorola, she introduced numerous technology products, including cellular handsets and a first-generation PDA. At Ameritech, she led the marketing efforts that expanded their paging and wireless data services. Additionally, she has been awarded two patents in wireless messaging.

Ms. Major is active in professional and community service organizations. She is a former board member at two public companies Teltrend, Inc. (NASDAQ: TLN) and Neonode, Inc (NASDAQ: NEON). She is currently a Board Member for Girl Scouts of the USA, The Global Telecom Women's Network (GTWN), and the La Jolla Music Society. Ms. Major graduated from Northeastern University with a Master of Business Administration and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science. Ms. Major is a Corporator Emerita, and currently serves on the West Coast Council for Northeastern University.
