

Girl Scout Outreach Stories of Impact

Genevieve

Girl Scouts prepares girls like Genevieve to step up and lead!

This first-grader became a Daisy Girl Scout through the year-round Girl Scout Outreach program at Cherokee Point Elementary in City Heights.

Her favorite aspect of Girl Scouting so far: the Girl Scout Cookie Program! She easily surpassed her goal of 500 packages, earning an indoor skydiving adventure and funds to support other Girl Scout activities.

More importantly, Genevieve built key life skills like decision making, money management, and business ethics.

Parents Drew and Sacari say the cookie program has helped their daughter develop as a leader. “At first Genevieve was super shy and intimidated by the idea of interacting with customers. But with practice and hard work, she grew confident.”

Girl Scout Outreach Stories of Impact

Anyra

Through our Girl Scout Outreach program, Anyra discovered the power of Girl Scouting!

Anyra joined Girl Scouts as a shy first-grader who signed up for an Outreach after-school program, where she built confidence by trying new things. The Brownie was especially enthusiastic about STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) experiences.

Then, as a Junior, she went to her first camp, a Mountain Adventure session led by the Outreach team. Homesick at first, she soon joined in every activity. By the time she attended Discovery Day Camp four months later, this once-quiet and timid little girl was a role model and leader, encouraging hesitant campers to participate in activities.

Now a 6th grader, Anyra inspires other girls to become Girl Scouts!
