ABOUT THE GOLD AWARD:

The Girl Scout Gold Award is the highest, most prestigious award in Girl Scouting. Girl Scouts in grades 9-12 earn the Gold Award by committing a minimum of 80 hours to transform an idea and vision for change in their community into an actionable plan with measurable, sustainable, and far-reaching results.

The highest award in Girl Scouting from 1916 to 1939 was the Golden Eaglet, which marked the beginning of a long tradition of recognizing the extraordinary efforts of Girl Scouts. From 1940 to 1963, the Curved Bar Award was the highest honor, and from 1963 to 1980, Girl Scouts earned First Class. Since 1980, the Gold Award has inspired girls to find the greatness inside themselves and share their passions with the world.
